

Limited League Tracking-Sheet

After each match, both players report results to the League Facilitator. The player who won the match receives two "tick-marks" by his/her name in the appropriate box. The player who lost the match receives one tick-mark. After a player has received 10 tick-marks (and 20 tick-marks), he/she may choose to purchase one additional Shards of Alara or Conflux booster to add to his/her league deck.

After a player has earned 10 tick-marks he/she receives one Hellspark Elemental promo card (whiles supplies last).
After a player has earned 20 tick-marks he/she receives one Path to Exile promo card (whiles supplies last).

name	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13	14	15	16	17	18	19	20
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19
20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28
29
30
31
32																					