

1. What time is it? What time would that roughly be in on a modern clock?
2. What is the Medicus doing?
3. Who is with him?
4. Where does Iulius come from?
5. What does Iulius report?
6. What do Iulius and Medicus argue about?
7. What is Medicus's justification?
8. What does Syra carry?
9. What does Aemilia report?
10. What do Medicus and Aemilia argue about?
11. How does Syra participate in the discussion?
12. What is the point of Iulius's interjection?
13. Explain the scene which results in almost everyone laughing.

14. What particularly angers Medicus?
15. How does Iulius react?
16. What does Syrus do?
17. Who is with Quintus now?
18. How is he doing?
19. Why does Quintus feel this way?
20. What is the implication of Syra's whispered comment to Aemilia?
21. What does Iulius's rhetorical question mean and imply? ("Nonne...?")
- 22. Why does Iulius not respond to Medicus's follow up question?
23. What does Iulius order Aemilia to do?
24. How does Iulius reply to Medicus's announcement of his departure?
25. What does Iulius final line mean? What is its implication?

There are a number of moments in Lingua Latina and the Colloquia and Fabellae which involve one character NOT responding to a question from another. Find at least three examples in texts we have read so far. Bonus points for anyone who finds one that no one else mentioned. Write out the chapter, page, characters, and what is said.